

CardioDiagnostics

CardioDiagnostics Openings

Clinical Department

Clinical Operations Officer

Company Description

CardioDiagnostics is a Data Analytics Medical Technology Company whose innovative work was recognized by President Barack Obama. The company developed the World's 1st Cloud-Based, Hardware-Agnostic, HIPAA-Compliant Cardiac Monitoring Solution, accessible from any internet-connected device anytime, anywhere.

Through helping in the proper diagnosis of heart conditions, capturing early symptoms of critical conditions, and creating customized feedback on one's health, CardioDiagnostics is allowing each and every individual to take proper actions to live a longer and healthier life, to better understand their cardiac conditions, and receive treatment when needed.

Job Description

A successful candidate is expected to:

- Monitor and analyze patient's heart data sent from the Wireless Cardiac Telemetry devices
- Read and interpret ECG data (basic cardiac rhythm monitoring)
- Detect and differentiate Cardiac Arrhythmias
- Generate medical reports and forward them to the physicians
- Communicate with physicians in a professional way to update them about their patient
- Communicate with the patient and develop a positive relationship

Requirements/Skills

Qualifications

- 1 to 5 years of experience in a CCU Unit or other cardiac unit
- Bachelor's Degree in Nursing – BLS and ACLS certifications are a plus

Clinical Skills

- ECG monitoring, reading, and analysis
- Arrhythmia detection

Soft Skills

- Good communication skills: communicating with both patients and physicians in an effective and professional way
- Self-development skills: fast learner, passionate, and ambitious
- Attentive to details
- Logical, systematic, and critical thinking